

This is about the experiences of the 24.4.1959 – when Bruno appeared at a gathering of his friends

On April 24th. 1959 - three months after the death of his earthly body - Bruno Gröning spoke in a group meeting,, the integrity of which is beyond doubt. Bruno Gröning was not only heard, but was also clearly seen in his astral body.(his energy body) During reception of the message all present felt a strong power in the room. Mrs. Josette Gröning, who was present, recognized through certain incidents or occurrences, which touched on her personal sphere, as coming from the soul body of her former husband. For those who have never heard of such a possibility, this may sound strange or weird...The Catholic Church however, has the idea firmly within its teachings, that the human soul is immortal. Besides that, we hear the term “lost souls”. These are beings, who, in their astral- bodies, are bound to certain places. Sensitive people in general are often able to sense these usually invisible presences. There are also priests, nuns, nurses and so on, who often report about such occurrences. (Look, for instance at the very interesting booklet by Mr. Wilhelm Otto Roesermüller:”Don’t forget about the poor souls,” (available through the Lichthort, publishing house Marschalken-Zimmern, over Horb/M Price DM 2,50)

“Lost souls” are beings who have done bad or evil things during their lifetime, and consequently are made to stay around the place of their crimes, or are able to move only within a limited area. These beings often get in touch with spiritualist circles and beg for help or release. However, we emphasize that the following message is not from a spiritualist circle... Furthermore, the description “lost soul” cannot be applied to Bruno Gröning, I am just mentioning this in order to eliminate any confusion.

Bruno Gröning was in fact seen in a pure and radiant form. It is just a pity that he cannot “appear”, to those who battled against him throughout all of his life. This would be very educational for them!

B r u n o G r ö n i n g spoke:

“...if anybody should ask me what my mission on Earth was, I repeat - To bear the sicknesses of other people, to take over their karma, which had been given to me. I always emphasized: “give me your illness”, and by that I meant, without saying too much - because too many words are not always good - that I had now taken the illnesses of those people on to myself...

If someone follows this path, it is difficult, and is marked by many struggles, because when karma is taken away from a human, when someone is carrying their cross for them, then he cannot look like an unburdened man... So I took the diseases of others on to myself and carried the burden of them throughout the years. And nobody should ask: “Why couldn’t he have healed himself?” (although this question is being asked!).

If I had followed another path, I could have helped myself, but I consciously took the illnesses on to myself, have very consciously taken them, with help from “it”, the Divine power which I was always talking about. When this holy power stretches out it’s hand and says, ‘give me your illness’, and the servant knows what it means, then it all streams towards him. He absorbs it, (picks it up) and the cells of his body, the visible ones, will become saturated with these illnesses. I carried my cross, an invisible cross, for other people, which left it’s physical marks on me. And this is how my last illness is to be viewed, - not as a ‘normal’ illness from within the mainstream of humanity, but as a consciously accepted and assimilated disease.

Well, my time on Earth was up... I was called back to serve on other, greater tasks. The doctors wondered what had happened with regard to the organic changes within my body. They were astonished that I could still walk, could still eat; that conversation was easy for me, and that apparent miracles occurred until almost the last moment. That wouldn’t have been possible if it had been the illness that the world knows as cancer. But it was another type of ‘cancer’ - one that arises through carrying the illnesses of other people...

All those, who have never thought about why I couldn’t help myself, they can think it over... My bodily cells had carried those diseases, and they enlarged. The diseases were transformed, and partially dispersed into so-called “Nothingness”. And since I was always allowed to take away diseases with the help of “it” - the holy energy that was flowing throughout my body - whose servant I was; I was constantly filled-up and my energy replenished, not only at my neck and throat, but mainly where the liver, gall, stomach and the intestinal areas are. One has to be able to 'digest' these diseases...The Divine has to digest them...

That which was found inside my liver is a sign that I very consciously and purposefully purified the sick people with the help of the holy power, and as a helper, was 'straightening people up', giving them the courage to change, to improve attitudes inside themselves. I merely said a few words to draw their attention to this and to that, to draw their attention and their thoughts away from my person, so that I could then absorb their diseases...

If everyone understood that, they would not ask about it. And when they realize that I can now work more freely and that my hands are no longer tied by earthly restrictions, then they will realize that I am right in the midst of them! They only need to open themselves up and they will feel me! They only have to open their heart to the "Divine Healing Current", this insurmountable, all-radiating healing power, then they will still feel IT, and sometimes even, feel it more strongly than before (when I was on the Earth)

Be aware of these signs and miracles! Always your true servant
Bruno
